AkzoNobel
Tomorrow's Answers Today

AkzoNobel Aerospace Coatings at DSEi, 2011, Stand: S4-104 "We develop the Coatings that give you the EDGE"

Presenting exciting new product ranges to the Land Defense and Military Aerospace market, AkzoNobel Aerospace Coatings is once again delighted to be exhibiting at DSEi 2011.

Constantly striving to develop new technologies within the coatings market, AkzoNobel has been the technology leader in innovative paint and coating systems to the aerospace and defense industry for nearly a century. Working to maintain an ethos of waste reduction, combined with a dedication to producing sustainable solutions, AkzoNobel Aerospace Coatings is committed to providing superior coating products with an exceptional service.

During DSEi AkzoNobel will demonstrate Intergard® and in particular the unique Intergard® 10220 peelable technology to the defense market; this revolutionary concept for rapid reaction forces allows for change of camouflage quickly and effectively without compromising on levels of service, resulting in an adaptable technology, effective within current markets where there is a demand for quality and serviceability.

AkzoNobel Aerospace Coatings shall also launch the "Smart Choice" concept at DSEi: a full range of primers and topcoats for the military market, offering maximum protection whilst minimizing the environmental impact.

News additionally on the waterborne range; Aerowave® and in particular Aerowave® 5001 which was recently approved for Eurofighter.

Amongst other military aircraft coatings on show, is Aerodur® 5000, a new generation camouflage coating which is particularly versatile and can provide a uniform finish in just one coat.

AkzoNobel Aerospace Coatings personnel look forward to discussing their products in more detail at DSEi 2011 – Stand S4-104
